A still life arrangement of various fruits and honey on a light, neutral-toned background. The composition includes several whole and sliced apples, some with green leaves attached. There are two pomegranates, one whole and one cut open to reveal its red seeds. A small bowl of honey is visible on the right side. Scattered around are pomegranate seeds, a cinnamon stick, and several dried, light-colored flowers. The lighting is soft and even, highlighting the textures and colors of the produce.
